

EQUILIBRIUM

THE ALCHEMY OF

EQUILIBRIUM

The winds and seas, the fire of the sun, and the earth underfoot — all these elements act within the principle of universal equilibrium.

If the states of equilibrium and harmony exist in perfection, a happy order will prevail throughout the universe, and all things will be nourished and flourish. Like the joy of the sea coming home to shore, as water takes whatever shape it is in, or like the dignity of moonlight restoring the earth, as the wind loves to call things to dance.

Similarly, the creation of a balanced cocktail menu means having an equal representation of spirits, a balance of flavours and a sense of harmony, achieved by certain elements of wonder and surprise when the drink is presented. This is the alchemy of perfect equilibrium.

HARRY CORY WRIGHT

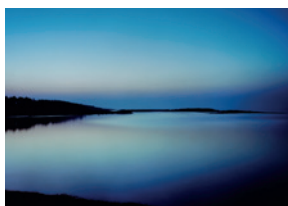

Harry Cory Wright is a leading landscape artist whose work is concerned with the sense of place.

He was recently included in an article in The Sunday Telegraph, 'Twelve Artworks that Capture the Beauty of the British Countryside.' Lucy Davies wrote "Harry Cory Wright could be Britain's finest landscape photographer. His images have a luminous, burnished feel that shivers easily between the now and everlasting. To make them, he uses a traditional wood and brass plate camera, which captures the vivid colours and dramatic light of the natural world in minute detail."
